Who is Anthony?

Anthony H. Brown is an educator/administrator for more than twenty years and currently serves as a Family and Community Engagement Coordinator for the Cleveland Metropolitan School District (Cleveland, OH). As an advocate of minority higher education, some have dubbed Anthony as "Mr. HBCU of Cleveland" as he travels throughout the community and country promoting the value of these esteemed institutions of higher learning. He is a proud graduate of Bethune-Cookman University (Daytona Beach, FL) where he majored in Mass Communications. In February 2020, he was elected the 24th president of the National Alumni Council of UNCF (United Negro College Fund).

For more than ten years Anthony had been the lead male figure on Another Look Cable Television. Another Look aired on cable television, in nearly 1.4 million homes, on the Time Warner Cable/Spectrum Northeast Ohio Network. He, along with his co-hosts presented the talk-variety show each week. They gave viewers Another Look at news, sports, entertainment, the arts, special events and more – in and around Northeast Ohio. In addition to television, Anthony also spent some time in radio production, engineering and voiceover work.

In April 2020, during the COVID-19 pandemic, Anthony began video podcasting from his living room. Like many individuals that was forced to shelter in place, he wanted to connect with others through social media. For two years, he broadcasted on Facebook and YouTube and entertained an audience of HBCU alumni and supporters about financially supporting their alma mater, campus highlights, student recruitment and alumni events. Through this multimedia platform, he was able to lead an HBCU awareness and fundraising campaign to raised more than $180,000 for HBCUs.

He has earned many successes as a result of his hard work, dedication and faith in God. Even more, the Cleveland HBCU Alumni Council that he served for many years honored him with the Anthony H. Brown HBCU Arts Scholarship Award. This scholarship is intended for the purpose of providing financial support to a deserving Greater Cleveland, Ohio area student matriculating at any HBCU whose major is based in the Performance or Visual Arts or Communications.

Anthony's greatest success that brings him the most joy is being a father to his one and only son Anthony, II, a former man of Morehouse who is now pursuing a Masters of Fine Arts degree at Yale University.
